It is a wonderful Catholic tradition to request a Mass Intention for loved ones; living or deceased. In fact, asking for Mass intention for the deceased is not only Catholic tradition, it is biblical (2 Maccabees 12: 38-46).

Mass intention is also a wonderful gift for any special occasion: birthday, anniversary, in thanksgiving for a prayer answered, etc. Mass intention donations are $10 each.

Please call the parish office to schedule a Mass Intention.

PRAYER

FROM THE DESK OF OUR PASTORAL ADMINISTRATOR

Fr. Emerson Rodriguez Delgado

In the hustle for success and the pursuit of happiness, have you ever stopped to ask yourself: What's the point of it all? Really, what's it all for? This Sunday, we're exploring that very question with the help of one of history's most brutally honest voices: Qohelet—the preacher, philosopher, and ancient realist who dared to confront life's deepest uncertainties. His opening words still pierces hearts today: 'Vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!'

Qohelet's raw honesty forces us to face an unsettling truth: everything we build, achieve, and accumulate ultimately slips through our fingers like sand, leaving us with empty hands and restless hearts. As the saying goes, "You'll never see a U-Haul behind a hearse."

Qohelet's observations are sobering—life can feel absurd, even meaningless at times. Centuries later, Albert Camus echoed Qohelet's sentiment in The Myth of Sisyphus, describing life as endless and absurd toiling. And honestly? Qohelet's words still pierce through our modern and digital world. We scroll endlessly on social media feeds, chase LinkedIn accolades, and curate picture-perfect Instagram lives—today's versions of the very vanity Qohelet described.

Even with our remarkable achievements—24/7 connectivity, space exploration, self-driving cars, and algorithms that seem to know us better than we know ourselves—we're still restless. Dissatisfied. Searching. We chase bigger houses, shinier cars, and loftier titles, only to find the void within us still gaping. Mick Jagger wasn't wrong when he sang: "I can't get no satisfaction."

But Qohelet's stark honesty isn't meant to leave us in despair—it's meant to wake us up. Life 'under the sun,' when viewed purely through human lens, is like running on a hamster wheel: lots of effort, no lasting destination. Even life's greatest joys—love, friendship, success—leave us longing for something eternal. Qohelet understood this: the deepest questions of purpose, death, and meaning can't be answered without God.

And here is where Jesus steps in. You see, Qohelet shows us the problem, but Jesus gives us the answer. While Qohelet exposes the futility of life, Jesus gives us a hope that will never fade. Jesus didn't come to deny life's struggles—He came to transform them. He offers eternal life, unites us with God, and fills our days with a purpose that doesn't vanish when the sun sets.

Take the parable of the rich fool – a man consumed with building bigger barns to store his wealth, only to lose his life before enjoying it. Jesus didn't call him foolish just because of his riches, He called him foolish for his misplaced priorities.

So, let me ask you this: What are you striving for? More storage units, more status, more fleeting pleasures? (Fun fact: storage facilities are among America's fastest-growing businesses.) Or are you investing in what truly endures—relationships, generosity, kindness, and faith? Listen to the psalmist in Psalm 90 calling us to "number our days aright, that we may gain wisdom of heart."

True wisdom, my friends, isn't about a "YOLO" mindset of "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die." No, true wisdom is about aligning your life with God's eternal purposes. It's about using your brief time on this earth to make an everlasting impact. How you want to be remembered when you are gone? Saint Basil said it best: "The bread in your cupboard belongs to the hungry; the coat in your closet belongs to the one who needs it."

True wealth isn't measured in possessions. It's measured by how much you give, how much you love, and the legacy of faith you leave behind. And can I tell you something? Jesus offers us a way off that hamster wheel. He turns despair into joy, futility into purpose. He takes death itself and replaces it with eternal life. While Qohelet correctly diagnoses our human condition, Jesus provides the cure.

So, I'll ask you again, my friends: What are you truly living for? Are you chasing treasures that will fade away, or are you building up eternal riches that will last forever? Qohelet reminds us that life is brief—it's a vapor, a mist. But in Christ, we find the one thing that will never fade: a life rich in faith, love, purpose, and eternal hope.

Everything else? Shadows. Vanity.

PRAY FOR OUR MILITARY

The men and women who serve in the armed forces do so with a sacrificial love for our country and the world. Lifting them up in prayer to our Lord must be our humble, and yet great support for them.

Lord, may your love encircle our military as they work across the world to install justice and peace for all. And be their hope through the difficulties and stress they face each day.

The MICAHA Program - Rescuing People from Predatory Loans

As the saying goes, "a drowning man will grab the tip of a spear." When someone is desperate, even a dangerous loan can feel like the only option.

That's exactly what happened to a woman we recently helped. She took out a $1,268 loan with an outrageous 177.81% interest rate. Without intervention, she would have paid $1,479 in interest alone.

Through the MICAHA Program, she refinanced her loan at just 4.3%, saving $1,437. We're also working with her on personal budgeting skills so she can avoid falling into predatory lending traps again.

The Mentors at the MICAHA Program turn despair into hope and fulfills Christ's call to love through action. Please consider joining the MICAHA Program as a Mentor. See our contact information in the bulletin to learn more.

Be a Witness. Be Involved. Serve at the Altar.

Are you a young adult looking to grow in your faith and become more involved in parish life? Consider serving as a Lector or Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion at Mass!

These sacred roles are a beautiful way to deepen your relationship with Christ and serve your parish family in a meaningful and visible way. Whether you feel drawn to proclaiming the Word of God or helping distribute the Body and Blood of Christ, your "yes" matters- and makes a difference.

We are especially in need of volunteers to serve at the Noon Mass on Sundays. If you regularly attend that Mass, this is a wonderful opportunity to take an active role in the liturgy.

No prior experience is needed. Training will be provided. Come be part of something greater. Let your faith come alive through service.

Interested? Please contact:

- Eucharistic Ministers (EME): Kyle Herr at kylekherr@gmail.com or 864-907-9355
- Lectors: Paul Herr at pdherr@gmail.com; 864-907-9356.

"As each has received a gift, use it to serve one another, as good stewards of God's varied grace." -1 Peter 4:10

As we celebrate the 18th Sunday in Ordinary Time, we invite you to deepen your reflection on this weekend's Gospel through these engaging resources on FORMED:

- For Children:
 - The Rich Fool – A fun, animated retelling of Jesus' parable that teaches young hearts about the true treasure we find in Christ.

We hope these videos enrich your weekend prayer and spark meaningful family conversations about faith and discipleship.

SECOND COLLECTION: DISASTER ASSISTANCE

NEWS FROM OUR SCHOOL

Principal Purview

What Makes a School Truly Catholic?

Part 4: Supporting Parents in Their Vocation

At the heart of every Catholic school is a partnership—a sacred collaboration between parents and educators. The Church teaches in Gravissimum Educationis (§3):

“Since parents have given life to their children, they are bound by the most serious obligation to educate their offspring... The role of parents in education is of such importance that it is almost impossible to provide an adequate substitute.”

Catholic schools do not replace parents; they exist to assist them. Parents are the first teachers of their children—not only chronologically, but by divine design. They are entrusted by God with the full formation of their children: body, mind, and soul.

A truly Catholic school recognizes this. It seeks not to usurp the family's role, but to strengthen and support it. It works in harmony with parents to form young people in truth and love, providing a community of faith, culture, and learning where children can flourish.

This partnership between home and school is foundational. When parents and educators share a common vision of the human person and a shared commitment to formation in wisdom and virtue, the result is a powerful witness to the Gospel—and a deep and lasting education. As we conclude this series on the nature of Catholic education, let us remember: the school is not just an institution, but a community—one that walks alongside families in the joyful and challenging work of raising saints.
